

March 2014

		Fund			S&P500 Index
		Performance	Inception to Date		Performance	Inception to Date
2005		+14.01%	+14.01%		+4.78%	+4.78%
2006		+16.91%	+33.29%		+13.62%	+19.05%
2007		+4.06%	+38.70%		+3.53%	+23.25%
2008		-47.99%	-27.86%		-38.49%	-24.18%
2009		+42.74%	+2.97%		+23.45%	-6.40%
2010		+24.94%	+28.65%		+12.78%	+5.57%
2011		+1.79%	+30.96%		0.00%	+5.56%
2012		+24.17%	+62.61%		+13.41%	+19.71%
2013		+42.96%	+132.46%		+29.60%	+55.15%
	MTD	YTD		MTD	YTD
Jan 2014	-4.39%	-4.39%	+122.26%	-3.56%	-3.56%	+49.63%
Feb 2014	+1.05%	-3.39%	+124.60%	+4.31%	+0.60%	+56.08%
Mar 2014	+2.10%	-1.36%	+129.31%	+0.69%	+1.30%	+57.16%

In March, the Fund rose by 2.10%, while the S&P500 rose by 0.69%. We rose rapidly at the beginning of March, having lagged in February, and then sat quietly as a sell-off developed in the fast growth stocks, which frequently inhabit the NASDAQ. Any pressure anywhere usually manifests in small stocks falling too, and this duly happened with the Russell 2000 and the NASDAQ being the only two indices down on the month. While we beat all other indices, there is no call for celebration as we remain behind the game at the end of the first quarter, still being down on the year, along with just the Dow Jones and NASDAQ indices.

There was some relief that we did better in an adverse environment for fast growth stocks because it shows our value biased portfolio acting as it should. However, our largest holding, MWI Vets, is a rapid growth stock. It is not fuelled by the beta of a biotech or 3D printer or indeed a battery in a TESLA motor, but it has still managed to get crushed this year, falling from $187 to $156. It is a distributor, growing at about 13%, and we have much higher targets long term. Our average cost is $34 five years ago, and so this move is not critical to management temperament, yet as a 7.5% position it has been big enough to hurt the year's performance. The higher multiple growth stocks which had raced away have now fallen about 25% from recent highs and that's just the high profile ones I know about. Recent celebrated new issues such as Twitter and LinkedIn have fallen further. The consequence showed up this month in a dip in arbitrage stocks, which is surprising as this only happens when there is considerable pressure to raise money, otherwise known as a panic.

Our position is far from complacent, yet I do hope that value stocks, some of which have been going sideways for a while, may get more attention as the year progresses. They require the best of times to work, but that is possible and the rush to eschew growth may work in their favour.

Separately, in March, we won the three year performance award for US Equities from Lipper. The gong was duly bagged by Stephen, our COO, at the Saddlers' Hall and we are all very pleased about it. A big thank you to all investors for your stable and continued support which I am sure gives us an advantage by not having to trade very often.

Risk Warnings and Other Important Information

This document is issued by De Lisle Partners LLP, registered in England No.OC310994, authorised and regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority. The registered office of Valu-Trac Investment Management Ltd is Suite 150-153, 2nd Floor Temple Chambers, Temple Avenue, London, EC4Y 0DA, Head Office at Mains of Orton, Orton, Fochabers, Moray, Scotland IV32 7QE.

The Fund qualifies as an Undertaking for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities (UCITSIII).

This document should not be construed as investment advice or an offer to invest in the Fund. Nor should its content be interpreted as investment or tax advice for which you should consult your independent financial adviser and/or accountant. The information and opinion it contains have been compiled or arrived at from sources believed to be reliable at the time and are given in good faith, but no representation is made as to their accuracy, completeness or correctness. Any opinion expressed in this document represents the views of De Lisle Partners at the time of preparation, but is subject to change. For professional use only.

The value of an investment and the income from it can fall as well as rise as a result of market and currency fluctuations and you may not get back the amount originally invested. Past performance should not be viewed as a guide to future performance. Please read the Prospectus before making an investment.